

Javelina Software announces upgrade to ADvantage Elements™

Updated Tools Find Unused Computer Accounts in Microsoft® Active Directory®

(Edgewater, MD – 10.26.2004) Javelina Software, LLC, today announced ADvantage Elements™ v2.5.1, the convenient task specific tools that facilitate bulk processing of Active Directory® (AD) tasks. ADvantage Elements v2.5.1 includes major updates to ADreporter, and ADsearch. In addition, there is a collection of new features added to all of the Elements that were recently released in ADvantage v2.5.1, our award winning solution that ensures expedient management of tasks essential to the administration of Active Directory.

ADvantage Elements v2.5.1 include the ability to report on computer accounts in Active Directory, the ability to search and replace on computer properties and attributes, and new options for configuring mail. And, now all of the reporting tools allow users to import a specific list of objects, instead of reporting on an entire OU or Domain. Improvements have also been made to each Element's import mechanism, allowing our customers to import even more AD attributes for bulk processing.

ADvantage Elements provide administrators with the task specific tools they need to do their jobs more efficiently. "We are excited to provide this free upgrade to all our currently licensed ADvantage Elements customers" states David Ritchie, President. "We continue to examine the needs of Active Directory administrators and promise to continue to deliver new solutions that make their jobs much easier."
