

Javelina Software announces new version of ADtoolkit Elements

Task specific tools easily move objects in bulk within Microsoft® Active Directory®

(Edgewater, MD – 12.08.2005) Javelina Software, LLC, today announced ADtoolkit Elements™ v3.0, the valuable task specific tools that facilitate bulk processing of Active Directory® (AD) tasks. ADtoolkit Elements includes major updates to ADreporter, ADusers, ADgroups and ADcontacts. Additionally, specific enhancements were added to the ADtoolkit Elements that were recently released in ADtoolkit v3.0, our award winning solution that ensures expedient management of tasks essential to the administration of Active Directory.

ADtoolkit Elements v3.0 include the ability to move, in bulk, the core objects in Active Directory. Upon upgrading to v3.0, users will easily select and move objects in bulk, such as users, groups, and contacts by selecting a new Organizational Unit.

Additionally, new features have been added to ADreporter. For example, it now provides the ability to report on Nested Members of a group. It also now includes the ability to report on the Deleted Items Folder Size for users with an Exchange mailbox. Administrators can now use ADreporter to send report results to other users via Exchange email. The report outputs have also been enhanced to include copy and paste capabilities.

High compliments come from Jeff Doe, Network Administrator for Faegre and Benson LLP, “Last Logon data is usually the type of information that is hard to get without lengthy steps, but ADreporter now provides a Common Property for it. Now all I have to do is select that common property and run a report to find out last logon information for each DC in the domain.”

In addition to these major upgrades, we’ve made general updates to bring ADtoolkit Elements v3.0 up to date with the features offered in ADtoolkit v3.0. ADtoolkit Elements provide administrators with the task specific tools they need to do their jobs more efficiently. “The new Move tools add more value to the already feature rich and affordable ADtoolkit Elements” states David Ritchie, President.

Pricing and Availability

The upgrade to ADtoolkit Elements v3.0 is free to all licensed ADtoolkit Elements users who purchased within the last year. ADtoolkit Elements include ADuser™, ADsearch™, ADgroups™, ADcontacts™ and ADreporter™ and are sold separately or bundled, according to a per administrator pricing model. Javelina Software offers ADtoolkit Elements at $395 per Element, per Administrator. ADtoolkit Elements pricing include one year of technical support and free upgrades for one year at no additional charge. ADtoolkit v3.0, the engine behind the Elements, includes all the ADtoolkit Elements tools and more, and is available at $1295 per admin copy. Administrators who own any ADvantage Elements and decide to upgrade to ADvantage, will be offered a special upgrade price.

About Javelina Software

Javelina Software is an innovative solution provider, dedicated to providing simplified management of directories. ADxray is a powerful troubleshooting and analysis tool that helps to identify the source of network problems by scrutinizing Microsoft Active Directory object attributes and is the newest addition to our line of products for the management of Active Directory. ADtoolkit is an award-winning product that ensures expedient management of tasks essential to the administration of Active Directory (AD). ADtoolkit Elements are the task specific tools developed to ease the repetitive nature of administrative tasks. Javelina Software's Migration Toolbox, the leading solution used by Banyan Vines customers who are migrating to Active Directory, shipped in 1999 and seamlessly migrates users, groups, and mailboxes. Migration Toolbox has since facilitated the rollouts of Active Directory implementations all over the world. Javelina Software now provides companies a smooth transition to and efficient administration of their Windows 2000 networks.

For more information about Javelina Software, please visit our website at www.javelinasoftware.com or contact us at 800.822.5484.

###

Contact:

Elena Kennedy
Marketing Manager
Javelina Software
elenak@javelinasoftware.com
(800) 822-5484